Richard is a first-year Arts student who needs help with selecting his courses

The queue for meeting an advisor is too long and Richard would rather spend the waiting-time to study for a test. Richard has an idea!

He joins the queue using the WaitLess App which gives him the est. wait time

Richard is studying until he gets a notification on his phone.

Richard's Position has been updated and a Pop-up notification appears

Richard can now start his advising session and didn't need to physically stand in line

Richard gets advice on what courses to take.
